SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Social Security Act requires that States’ laws must provide for methods of administration which will insure full payment of unemployment compensation when due.

On July 23, 1976, final regulations were published in the Federal Register which established a Benefit Payment Promptness Standard for the Federal-State Unemployment Compensation Program. In that document the Department of Labor undertook to republish the Standard in March 1977, with such revisions as appeared to be supported by studies and experience. Studies were made and a further study is underway. Additional responsibilities of the Department in 1977 have intervened to delay republication of the Standard until now, but the standards have been analyzed and on the basis of the analyses and experience a number of changes are proposed to further improve the Standard.

The Department of Labor anticipated that the Standard would result in significant improvement in the States in the promptness of first benefit payments. A majority of the States have shown progressively better performance since publication of the Standard. A comparison of the cumulative averages for the 13 month period ending June 30, 1977, against the 13 month period ending June 30, 1976, shows that 40 States have equalled or improved their performance on interstate claims and 48 States have equalled or improved their performance on interstate claims.

Some States are not currently meeting the criteria levels of 80 percent of interstate first payments and 60 percent of interstate first payments issued within 14 days of the end of the first compensable week. The Department has concluded from studies conducted in 17 States that, with the exception of States which do not have a waiting week, the States will be able to attain those criteria levels. It is expected that as States continue to improve their performance, they will be able to meet more stringent promptness criteria.

Although studies of performance by the remaining States are still underway, the Department has sufficient information and experience to proceed with changes to the Standard and has considered the following changes:

1. Change the Standard as it applies to States which do not require a waiting period.

2. Establish criteria for subsequent payments.

3. Change the Standard by introducing higher criteria to be achieved over a three year period.

4. Establish graduated criteria.

CRITERIA FOR NON-WAITING WEEK STATES

A non-waiting week State is any State whose law does not require that a non-compensable period of unemployment be served before the payment of benefits commences. The non-waiting week States are:

Alabama
Connecticut
Delaware
Georgia
Iowa
Kentucky
Maine
Maryland
Michigan
Nevada
New Hampshire
North Carolina
Pennsylvania
South Carolina
Wisconsin

(North Carolina suspended its waiting week requirement through February 15, 1977; South Carolina suspended its waiting week requirement from February 15, 1977, through June 30, 1977; and Wisconsin eliminated its waiting week requirement effective January 1977.)

None of the five non-waiting week States included in the 17 States studied by the Department had met either the interstate or interstate criteria. Further, data for the 12 month period ending June 30, 1977, shows that five non-waiting week States are meeting the interstate criteria and two non-waiting week States are meeting the interstate criteria. These results tend to support the general performance of States so that it is equitable to use the same criteria as the basis for measuring the promptness of benefit payments in both waiting week and non-waiting week States. The Department believes that it is reasonable that non-waiting week States should be allowed 45 days to meet the interstate and interstate criteria.

CRITERIA FOR SUBSEQUENT PAYMENTS

An analysis of data comparing State performance in processing first payments and subsequent payments did not provide conclusively results. It did indicate that States pay a higher percentage of subsequent payments within 14 days of the week ending date than they do first payments. The range in performance varied as much as it does for first payments. The results showed that once the payment process begins, States generally are able to pay subsequent claims promptly.

The information obtained relative to subsequent payment performance therefore supports the same conclusion that was reached after previous studies, i.e., first benefit payment promptness performance correlates with subsequent payment performance so that when first payment promptness is adequate, so is subsequent payment performance. In addition, current requirements do not include data on subsequent payments. It has been determined that to require such data would be an added reporting burden that would not justify the costs or results.

The Department accordingly concludes that establishment of payment criteria for subsequent payments is not warranted at this time.

HIGHER CRITERIA AND GRADUATED CRITERIA

The studies completed thus far show that States with the best performance records are able to pay higher percentages of first payments at successive intervals so that 90 percent or better of interstate first payments and 75 percent or better of interstate first payments are issued by the 35th day after the end of the first compensable week.

The studies show that, if payment delays due to controllable factors had been eliminated, the States in the studies would have issued 95 percent of interstate first payments and 85 percent of interstate first payments within 14 days after the end of the first compensable week.

There are various factors categorized as uncontrollable delays, e.g., backdating effective dates of claim, claimant or employer error, delay in delivery of mail, reversal of a determination, request for transfer of wage records for a combined-wage claim, and agent State delay or error, which make it virtually impossible for States to issue 100 percent of their first payments at a prescribed interval. The effects of other uncontrollable fac-

§ 640.1 Purpose and scope.

(a) Purpose. Section 503(a) (1) of the Social Security Act requires, for the purpose of section 3304 of that Act, that a State unemployment compensation law include provision for methods of administration of the law that are reasonably calculated to assure full payment of unemployment compensation when due to eligible claimants. The Standard in this Part is intended to implement section 503(a) (1) in regard to promptness in the payment of unemployment benefits to eligible claimants.

(b) Scope. (1) The Standard in this Part applies to all State laws approved by the Secretary of Labor under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (section 3304 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, 26 U.S.C. 3304), and to the administration of the State laws.

(2) The Standard specified in § 640.4 applies to all claims for unemployment compensation. The criteria for State compliance in § 640.5 apply to first payments and unemployment compensation to eligible claimants following the filing of initial claims and first compensable claims.

§ 640.2 Federal law requirements.

(a) Conformity. Section 503(a) (1) of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 503(a) (1), requires that a State law include provision for:

Such methods of administration are found by the Secretary of Labor to be reasonably calculated to assure full payment of unemployment compensation when due.

(b) Compliance. Section 503(b) (2) of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 503(b) (2), provides in part that:

Whenever the Secretary of Labor, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State agency charged with the administration of the State law, finds that in the administration of the law there is:

(1) * * *
A State will be deemed to comply substantially, as set out in §§ 640.2(b) and 640.3(b), if its average performance, for the period of review, meets or exceeds the applicable criteria set forth above.

§ 640.6 Review of State compliance.

(a) Annual reviews. The administration of each State law shall be reviewed annually for compliance, as set out in §§ 640.2(b) and 640.3(b). Annual reviews shall be for the 12-month period ending on March 31 of each year. An annual review with respect to any State shall be based upon the monthly reports of performance submitted to the Department by the State agency, any special reports of performance submitted to the Department by the State agency, any Benefit Payment Performance Plan applicable to the period being reviewed, any study or analysis of performance relevant to the period being reviewed, and any other audit, study, or analysis as directed by the Department of Labor.

(b) Periodic review. The administration of any State law may be reviewed at any other time, when there is reason to believe that there may be failure of compliance as set out in §§ 640.2(b) and 640.3(b). Such a review shall be based upon the same elements as may be required for an annual review.

§ 640.7 Benefit Payment Performance Plans.

(a) Annual Plan. An Annual Benefit Payment Performance Plan shall be submitted by a State agency to the Department of Labor when average performance over a 12-month period ending on March 31 of any year does not meet the criteria specified in § 640.5. An Annual Plan shall be submitted by July 31 following the applicable March 31, and shall be a plan for the fiscal year that begins on the succeeding October 1. An Annual Plan shall be subject to continuing appraisal during the period it is in effect, and shall be subject to modification from time to time as may be directed by the Department of Labor after consultation with the State agency.

(b) Periodic Plan. A Periodic Benefit Payment Performance Plan shall be submitted by a State agency when directed by the Department of Labor. A Periodic Plan may be in addition to, or a modification of an Annual Plan and may be required even though an Annual Plan covering the same period is not required. A Periodic Plan shall be subject to continuing appraisal during the period it is in effect, and shall be subject to modification from time to time as may be directed by the Department of Labor.

(c) Content of Plan. An Annual Plan or Periodic Plan shall set forth such corrective actions, performance and evaluation plans, and other matters as the Department of Labor directs, after consultation with the State agency.

§ 640.8 Enforcement of the Standard.

(a) Action by the Department of Labor. When a State agency fails, for an extended period, to meet the Standard set forth in § 640.4 or the criteria specified in § 640.5, or fails to show satisfactory improvement after having submitted a Benefit Payment Performance Plan of Action, the Department of Labor shall pursue the following remedial steps before considering application of the provisions of § 640.2:

(1) Initiate informal discussion with State agency officials pursuant to § 601.3(b) of this Chapter.

(2) Conduct an evaluation of the State's benefit payment process and analyze the reasons for the State's failure to meet the Standard.

(3) Recommend specific actions for the State to take to improve its benefit payment performance.

(4) Request the State to submit a plan for complying with the Standard by a prescribed date.

(5) Initiate special reporting requirements for a specified period of time.

(6) Consult with the Governor of the State regarding the consequences of the State's non-compliance with the Standard.

(7) Propose to the Governor of the State and on an agreed upon basis arrange for the use of expert Federal staff to furnish technical assistance to the State agency with respect to its payment operations.

(b) Action by the Assistant Secretary. If, after all remedial steps have been exhausted, a State fails to take appropriate action, or otherwise fails to meet the Standard specified in § 640.4, the Assistant Secretary for Employment and Training shall, after taking all factors into consideration, recommend to the Secretary of Labor that appropriate notice be sent to the State agency and that an opportunity for a hearing be extended in accordance with section 303(b) of the Social Security Act.

§ 640.9 Information, reports and studies.

A State shall furnish to the Secretary of Labor such information and reports and make such studies as the Secretary decides are necessary or appropriate to carry out this Part.
